

MASSACHUSETTS SENATOR, TREATY REBEL, PLEDGES SUPPORT TO COX

DATTON, O., July 25.—Governor Cox, Democratic presidential candidate, yesterday was pledged the vigorous and unflinching support of Senator David I. Walsh, of Massachusetts, leader among Senate Democrats who differed widely from the administration on the league of nations and who fought for reservations.

Senator Walsh arrived unexpectedly and was governor Cox's guest at dinner before leaving for the east.

"I shall aid in every possible way to secure Governor Cox's election," Mr. Walsh said. "I voted for him from the first at San Francisco and shall continue my vigorous aid."

Visitor at "Trailhead."

Senator Walsh said he had not learned Governor Cox's attitude toward the league controversy. He called to talk over ordinary campaign

Neff Calls Off Dallas Speech; Ordered to Rest

Dallas, Tex., July 25.—Pat Neff will not open his campaign here tonight as contemplated because his doctor has ordered him to take a few days rest, it was announced today. He will open the campaign next Monday night instead. Neff is suffering from a reaction from the severe campaign work of the last few weeks.

Thomason and Leoney supporters united here last night to boost Neff. Ten speakers denounced Bailey. Tom Love, Democratic committeeman from Texas, declared the issue between Bailey and Neff are the same as between Cox and Harding.

BAILEY LEAD STAYS AT 5000

Dallas, Texas, July 25.—Related returns from distant counties of Texas received by the Texas election bureau continued to show no appreciable change in the outcome of the Democratic state primary of July 24. Former senator Joseph W. Bailey, candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, continues to lead Pat M. Neff, of Waco, by about 5000. Bailey and Neff still enter the run-off primary August 25. Returns occasionally augmented by late counts tonight showed a total of 414,333 votes representing 344 counties. 114 of which are complete.

The tabulation gave Bailey 140,560; Neff 125,000; Thomason 24,443 and Leoney 47,332.

MORE THAN 45,000 VOTERS REGISTER FOR PRIMARY

Phoenix, Ariz., July 25.—Over 45,000 Arizona voters have already registered for the primary election, according to figures on file in the office of secretary of state Hiram Bump. The total registration reported by the various counties up to July 24 is 45,117. Santa Cruz county, however, is not included in the foregoing total, as no report as to registrations has been received from that county. Maricopa county leads with a registration of 12,000. Two years ago the total registration for the state was approximately 75,000. Registration before the primary election closes August 27, and resumes after the primary election.

conversation two weeks ago at Washington after the speech of acceptance.

Free to Criticize.

For already friends of the Democratic nominee are saying privately that the Cox visit to the White house may have been a good thing to secure Wilson's Democratic, but on the other hand it made other Democrats and Independents wonder how far Cox would be obliged to swallow all the defects of the Wilson administration.

Governor Cox was not in Washington either to the legislative or in the executive branch of the government, and as far as he is personally concerned he is free to criticize freely anything the Wilson administration did. Unless he exhibits such independence there are many delegates who think his chances of getting the independent vote will be seriously affected, for no matter how laudatory the Democratic convention may have been concerning all the policies of the Democratic administration of the last seven and a half years, there is a resentment to overcome of more or less the same sort that faced the Roosevelt administration and the Taft administration at the close of their respective terms.

Fundamentally, the president has the right to expect agreement on the part of the Democratic committee with respect to the league of nations issue. That is important not alone because the change shall result in the destruction of the purpose or machinery of the league itself. It will be remembered that president Wilson's support of any reservationist, whether interpretative or constructive, has been rather lukewarm, and his opponents succeeded in implanting an idea of obduracy, because Mr. Wilson was unwilling, for instance, to say flatly that he would accept the Hitchcock reservations. Moreover, at the Democratic national convention it was after considerable debate and difficulty that a clause was inserted favoring reservations that would make America's obligations under the treaty and league "clearer and more specific." But the addition of such reservations is considered by governor Cox an absolute necessity for, while he may agree with the president that the language of the covenant is clear enough for statesmen and others who have analyzed legal phraseology very closely, nevertheless, it is not clear to the people who have been hearing opposition speeches.

Governor Cox's views on the league will be found to be in accordance with the Wilson purposes and ideals, but the tactics he will pursue in the campaign will leave no doubt that he is willing to stand for reservations that completely remove all doubts and ambiguities about America's sovereignty and independence, and that will absolutely erase the impression of America's obligation to go to war against her own will and against the wishes of her congress.—Copyright, 1920, by David Lawrence.

BAILEY OPENS CAMPAIGN BY ATTACK ON UNION LABOR

lately central my enemies (applause). Confusing His Enemies.

"I can make them take the wrong side of any question by simply taking the right side myself (laughter). When the campaign for presidential delegates was first in progress they complained because I insisted on discussing state issues and now when I am discussing state issues they try to provide me into a discussion of national issues (laughter)."

"I understand they are trying to revive the May 1st primary and campaign. They don't know a thing is over (laughter). I do."

"And now, when I insist on discussing a state issue, the greatest issue ever presented to a people, we are easily told it is not an issue at all. And that is the issue which the labor unions have raised with me."

For Labor When It's Right.

"Of course it would not be an issue if I were an average politician because, if I were that, I would not challenge the labor union's position. I would do like all of the others do."

"I would how my head and any to them 'they will be done' (applause). But I don't happen to be that kind. I am for labor when labor is right. I am against labor when labor is wrong, (applause), and I want to warn the honest and conservative laborer the man that the politician who will flatter your prejudices to get your votes, will betray your interests whenever he wants something else."

Bailey referred to the red circulars that read, "Vote against Bailey and let Union Labor rule."

In this connection, Bailey shouted: "I am opposed to union labor ruling Texas."

New Labor Circular.

In the circular referred to made its appearance here yesterday and is prominently posted throughout the country districts. The circular calls upon the farmers and working men to bolt the Democratic party and vote the Republican or the American party ticket in the election of June at the primary August 25.

"The defeat of Joe Bailey will place Texas on record for the 'closed shop before the world'—the circular reads."

The circular is similar in appearance to the famous "red circular" issued during the recent primary campaign, which urged the defeat of Bailey as an enemy of the closed shop and the right of labor to work.

Declared the election of Neff, Thomason or Leoney would mean labor union control of the government of Texas. Labor union officials denied responsibility for the printing of the circular.

Non-Partisans And Farmer-Labor Party Are Given Representation On Colorado Democrats' State Ticket

DENVER, Colo., July 25.—Two Non-Partisan league and Farmer-Labor party members will appear on the Democratic state ticket in the September primaries as a result of the Democratic state assembly which opened yesterday and completed its work after midnight this morning. A full state ticket was named after two recesses.

The assembly endorsed the national administration and the national ticket named at San Francisco and condemned the Republican party for what it termed its neglect of Colorado's mining interests. The afternoon session was largely a debate over the efforts of the Non-Partisan league to get on the party ticket.

The candidates are: United States senator: Judge Tully Scott, Teller county, and William C. Danahy, Arapahoe county. Governor: Robert H. Higgins, former state treasurer, and James M. Collins, Weld county, previously designated by the Non-Partisan league and Farmer-Labor party. Lieutenant governor: Frank E. Carringer, Jefferson county; Ed Anderson, Denver, secretary of the state federation of labor and endorsed by the labor party. Secretary of state: James R. Noland, unopposed; former newspaper man. Supreme court judge: Fred G. Folsom, Boulder county unopposed. State treasurer: E. L. Nealley, Weld county. State auditor: Alphonse Ardrouet, Boulder, unopposed. Attorney general: Morrison Blackrock, P. E. Gilles, Lake county. State superintendent of public instruction: Mrs. Mary C. C. Bradford, unopposed. Members from the
